Are you passionate about women and called to help Christian women heal & thrive?

The International Women's Ministry Network (IWMN) is seeking an Executive Director with a genuine heart for women—especially Black women and women of colour—and a passion for creating spaces where women leaders can be seen, supported, emotionally restored, spiritually strengthened, and empowered to lead well.

What will you do?

The Executive Director will help lead IWMN into its next chapter by:

- Developing and raising up new leaders who can serve women and help create spaces for emotional healing, restoration, and empowerment.
- Strengthening IWMN's infrastructure, systems, administration, communication, and organizational capacity.
- Helping shape and expand programs that support women in emotional wellness, leadership development, mentoring, and community.
- Building relationships and partnerships that help extend IWMN's reach and impact.
- Leading fundraising efforts to sustain and grow the ministry—including developing funding opportunities and cultivating donors and supporters.
- Taking responsibility for raising the funds needed to support the Executive Director position, as part of the organization's fundraising and sustainability model.

IWMN is a U.S. 501(c)(3) charitable organization with a long-standing commitment to serving and empowering women.

This is an opportunity for someone who is not only organized and administratively capable, but who has a heart for people, a vision for leadership development, fundraising ability, and a desire to help build something that brings healing and hope to women.

If you believe women leaders deserve spaces where they can breathe, heal, grow, and become all God calls them to be—we'd love to hear from you.
